All in the golden afternoon. The poem "All in the golden afternoon" is not a parody, but was entirely made up by Carroll himself. There are several noteworthy elements in it though. The poem tells the story of how Alice's Adventures in Wonderland came to be: Carroll told it during a boat trip to Alice and her sisters.

The Trap Door is a British animated television series, originally shown in the United Kingdom in 1984. The plot revolves around the daily lives and the misadventures of a group of monsters living in a castle. Although the emphasis was on humour and the show was marketed as a children's programme, it drew much from horror and dark fantasy. The show has since become a cult favourite and remains one ...

Pam, I honestly don't know how I would feel if I had a different kind of yard plan in mind. But my first glimpse at a field of horseherb was in the Wells Branch area, walking along the trails (I'm not sure Wells Branch planted it, mind you, given that their creek area is overrun with Chinaberry trees and poison ivy; I suspect that the horseherb just made a home there).
